

WATER DISCONNECTS

It is the homeowner's responsibility to notify Urban Utilities if they have sold their house and need to have the water billing discontinued. Sufficient notice should be made to Urban Utilities so that they have ample opportunity to prepare a final meter reading. In addition, a change of address should be supplied such that the final bill may be sent. Under the agreements signed when water service is started, the water fees incurred up until notice supplied are the homeowner of record's responsibility.
